Highway spending totaling $317,608,704 was the biggest single item in state government expenditures of more than $1.4 billion during the fiscal year ending June 30, according to State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

Next came expenditures of the Department of Liquor Control amounting to $220,101,515.44, followed by school foundation payments of $180,971,399.

Bank Incomes Show Gains Despite Slump

Security Profits Take Up Slack Of Easy Money

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Easy money and the industrial slump are slowing down the rate of gain in net operating earnings of the nation's banks in many parts of the nation. A few even report making less than a year ago when tight money was boosting their profits at a smart clip.

But don't weep for them yet. Easy money also has provided a windfall. This is the rise in the price of bonds, particularly the government securities that banks like.

As a group the nation's largest banks are able to show continuing net operating gains, mostly in the range of 2 to 6 per cent. But this time last year they were topping the 1956 earnings by 10 to 20 per cent, due in large part to tight money.

This year most are showing profits from securities where last year they were reporting losses because of tight money.

Net operating earnings are what a bank makes on its interest from loans and interest from securities after deducting what it pays out in interest on deposits and in the labor and other costs of serving the depositors and borrowers, and after paying income taxes.

Profit on securities comes when their prices rise and the bank is able to sell them for more than it paid for them.

Easy money in the first half of 1958 has done this by lowering the yield on government securities — which means their market price has risen although their interest rates are fixed and unchanged.

The slowdown in the rise of operating earnings — and in some cases a decline — reflects the Federal Reserve Board's easy money policy this year as a recession remedy. This is because the greater supply of money has led to a softening of interest that banks charge borrowers.

Coupled with this has been the decline in the demand of businessmen for loans. They have required less bank help in carrying inventories, which they were piling, or in financing new plants and equipment.

Banks costs have stayed high. Labor charges are as high as ever. And in the era of tight money the banks raised the interest rates they'd pay depositors because they needed more funds to lend. They talk about cutting these deposit and savings interest rates now, but in most cases are still paying them.

Watchman Wins Job Back after Firing

COLUMBUS (AP)—L. Earl Young, Ohio Department of Highways watchman, has won reinstatement to his $240 a month job in the department's garage at West Union in Adams County. The state Civil Service Commission ordered his reinstatement after a public hearing May 16. Young was accused of reporting for work while intoxicated Feb. 21. He was removed after serving a 30-day suspension from his job.

TORNADO PLAYS A PRANK—When the air had cleared, a 200-foot-long chunk of brick and tile wall was missing from the Kimball-Mayfield Wholesale Grocery warehouse in Tyler, east Texas. Boxes and crates were left stacked neatly inside the building and the roof was undamaged by the freakish tornado which struck amid crackling lightning and heavy rain.

NAACP Says Membership Drops in 1958

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 12 per cent drop in membership was reported by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People at its convention yesterday, marking the first time in the organization's 49-year history that membership declined. Enrollment stood at 312,277.

"Factors contributing to this loss," the NAACP said in its annual report, "included: 'The stepped-up legal attacks on southern NAACP units; oppressive measures passed by southern legislatures prohibiting teachers and other public employees from membership in the NAACP; and the demand for publication of names of NAACP officers and members in Little Rock and other communities.'"

Fund-raising efforts by other branches enabled the organization to meet its budget despite the membership loss, the report said. The organization spent $790,722 last year — $63,565 more than its income.

The midwest and northeast regions are first and second in membership, and the states with the largest NAACP enrollment in 1957 were in order, New York, Ohio, Michigan and California.

The 10 largest branches listed in the report, with membership totals, were: Detroit 19,291, Chicago 13,307, Baltimore 12,218, New York City (Manhattan only) 11,797, Cleveland 11,625, Los Angeles 9,244, St. Louis 7,239, Philadelphia 6,324, Washington 6,275, and Pittsburgh 5,379.

Subscriptions to the monthly magazine, the Crisis, dropped from 64,350 in 1956 to 59,618 last year.

Suit Is Filed In Local Court For $186,688

William J. Curry, attorney for Barbara Cornell, 10, Ironton, yesterday filed a suit in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court for $186,688 against Fred W. Blatter, Ripley.

Curry maintains that on or about 11 a.m. Feb. 7, 1953, Miss Cornell was a passenger in an automobile driven by her father. At Routes 22 and 104 three miles west of here their auto was struck by a car driven by Blatter and she was thrown from the car.

Miss Cornell's attorney states that due to the accident, she suffered such internal injuries that she will never be able to marry and maintain a normal married life.

The petition cites Blatter for driving at an excessive rate of speed; his car was out of control; he was operating the auto without due regard for life or limb, and that he saw the plaintiffs in a helpless position but failed to avoid the accident because of the danger it would have made for him. The plaintiff maintains that Blatter could have prevented the collision.

Ford's Hymns Solid, Simple

Outselling Most Rock 'n' Rollers

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Amid the rock 'n' roll and show tunes on the best selling list, one record album stands out like a beacon. It is Tennessee Ernie Ford's "Near the Cross."

No stomping beat. No sophisticated lyrics. Just solid, old-fashioned hymns sung with simple reverence.

There's another Ford album among the best seller. It's called "Hymns," and it has been on the list for 78 weeks, a phenomenal record.

Ernie isn't smug about these achievements, but he's certainly happy. They are the result of a steady campaign of his to bring hymns to the mass audience.

"As long as I've been in show business—and that's not very long—I've been trying to promote hymns," he remarked. "It seemed to me that here was a great form of expression that was being overlooked."

"I don't mean it merely for religious purposes. I just felt that it was a crime to overlook these wonderful melodies and the fine messages they convey."

"You just don't know what a battle I had putting them over. When I tried to sing hymns on my TV show, they told me, 'you just can't do it. You can't take your audience when they're 'way down there and bring them 'way down.'"

"Why, that was ridiculous to me. How can you bring an audience down with a hymn? The very nature of hymns is to uplift."

When he finally won his point, the TV minds came up with a big production number to accompany his hymn. Singers and dancers all over the place.

"Now let's just cut out all this gingerbread and just sing the hymn," Ernie declared.

That's the way it was presented, and he continues to do his hymns in a simple manner. The response has been enormous, he said. Viewers are effusive in their praise; many send him stacks of hymn books, even tornout copies of their favorite hymns.

Ernie's hymn-singing goes back to his early days in the Methodist Church of Bristol, Tenn. He and his father were part of a quartet that sang for the old folks' home, the Orphans' Society and prisoners at the jail.

He's of the opinion that folks should do more hymn singing at home. And he feels the urge is there.

Jail Happy For Fosters

JEFFERSON, Ga. (AP)—Jail was a happy place yesterday for Mr. and Mrs. James Fulton Foster and five of their seven children.

They were together again under the same roof for the first time in two years.

During those two years Foster twice was sentenced to die in the electric chair in the slaying of a Jefferson merchant. His wife Irene struggled to keep the family going at Greer, S. C., by working in a shirt factory.

Then, last Friday, word came that a Cairo, Ill., policeman had signed a statement in the South Carolina penitentiary admitting the slaying of Charlie Drake, 60, during a robbery attempt.

Sunday night Irene and James held a reunion on the jailhouse lawn. They hugged and kissed and cried in each other's arms, heedless of about 100 onlookers.

After that Irene, 38, said: "We're going to stay here until we can take him back."

Her slim, mild-mannered husband, a 40-year-old house painter, didn't say anything. He knew legal technicalities might delay his release a week or two.

At this point, Sheriff John Brooks invited Mrs. Foster and the five children to stay at the jail, a large rambling house in this small town some 70 miles north-east of Atlanta.

Hypnotism Proves Successful in Caesarian Birth

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—A successful Caesarian section while the mother was hypnotized has been performed at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Mrs. Richard Green yesterday gave birth to a son who weighed six pounds 14½ ounces. It is the first time hypnotism ever was used here for a Caesarian section.

Prior to today's delivery Mrs. Green had a succession of eight miscarriages. Her physician, Dr. D. W. Chaisson, suggested hypnosis, which he performed during her pregnancy and delivery.

The delivery was carried out with no difficulty and mother and son were reported doing fine at St. Elizabeth's.

Mrs. Green has one other child, an 11-year-old son.

Don't Short-Change U.S.

Don't short-change Uncle Sam in stamps on letters you expect to handle. He's imposing a penalty now for mail that doesn't carry sufficient stamps.

Under regulations which became effective July 1, he first gives the addressee the opportunity of paying the postage due. But he imposes a 5-cent penalty in addition. If the addressee doesn't pay up, the "short paid" letter goes back to the sender with a demand for the postage plus the nickel penalty.

Should the mail involved lack a return address, it is passed along to the Dead Letter Office. There, if the sender can be determined, it is returned with a dead-letter charge, now double the former 5-cent rate.

The penalty charge probably will serve to make mailers more alert to the postage increases that will go into effect August 1.

Of course, with the 3-cent stamp to give way to the 4-cent along with other postal rate changes less than a month hence, many people will be more conscious of postal charges than usual. And chances are that a lot of mail that under other circumstances might have been left until August 1 or later will be dropped into mail boxes before July ends.

For large companies the savings could be important. A concern the size of General Motors with more than 650,000 shareholders would save more than $6,500 should it circularize them July 31 instead of August 1. After all, the change to four cents for a first class letter is a 33 per cent increase in the postage bill.

Where Does Cash Go Now?

The U. S. Department of Labor wants to spend $5 million to determine where all the money goes — the average American's money, that is.

What's worrying the statisticians in Washington is that the average citizen today has so many new demands upon pocketbook that the 300 items they have been watching so carefully in 46 cities may no longer be supplying the answer to the biggest question. "Where did it all go?"

Living cost figures always reflect what is past by the time they are announced. For that reason it is easy to dismiss them as water over the dam. But an accurate picture is needed, and that $5 million the labor department will seek can be regarded as justified.

But the average American might be willing to spend some more money to get an answer to this question: Where do all Uncle Sam's billions go?

Dust Off that Play in Trunk

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—If you have a good three-act play collecting dust in your trunk, now is the time to take it out and storm Broadway.

But it has to be good.

"The theater today is wide open," said Audrey Wood, one of the nation's top theatrical agents. "There's a tremendous need for new talent. If you have any kind of talent at all, it sticks out—it cries out to be helped."

Miss Wood, who looks like a perky, blue-eyed, auburn-haired visiting schoolteacher, is little known to the playgoing public. But she is a real power in the theater. She has helped put between 80 and 100 plays on the boards here, including some of the most famous of the last generation.

For 17 years Miss Wood and her husband, Bill Liebman, ran their own theatrical talent agency. Four years ago they sold out to the Music Corp. of America, which promptly found out it needed Miss Wood to handle the talent it had acquired.

Broadway gossip is that MCA paid half a million dollars for the Liebling agency, and still pays Miss Wood about $1,000 a week for her services.

She represents such playwrights as Tennessee Williams, William Inge, Robert Anderson, Carson McCullers, Kanin, and Dorothy and Dubose Hayward.

Among other theater celebrities she serves as agent are Shirley Booth, Leslie Caron, Siobhan McKenna, Michael Redgrave and Ben Gazzara.

Miss Wood said that the chief art of her job consists in getting "the right play to the right producers at the right moment."

"Very often a writer doesn't come in with a play. He comes in with two-thirds of a play. You have to have valid critical ability, and he has to be willing to listen to your suggestions," she says. "If an established playwright comes to me, I still have to tell him, 'I've got to be able to talk to you as if you were just a new boy from Dubuque.'"

Miss Wood has been notably successful in creating personal loyalty to her among some of the world's most temperamental types.

"The ideal way to handle a writer is to be there when he needs you — and not be there when he doesn't need you," she said.

One of the great needs of the theater today, she believes, is some way to endow talented young playwrights — to keep them afloat during the struggling period when they are mastering their craft.

"A real writer isn't ruined by help," she said firmly. "In all my years in the theater I've never seen any young writer given that much money."

A Heap of Prejudice

By George Sokolsky

Robert D. Morrow, superintendent of the Tucson public schools, writes me:

"I, too, admire Sherman Adams, but his conduct in the Goldfine case is certainly regrettable, if not reprehensible."

But I do not admire Sherman Adams; I only ask that he get a fair trial. I do not need to admire a man to believe in essential justice. If Sherman Adams committed an offense, pluck out his right eye, cut off his head or do whatever is customary; but it is necessary first to establish that he committed an offense. Up to the moment of writing, he has not, in my opinion, even been proved to be indiscreet.

Morrow's letter, however, is not designed to defend Adams but to quarrel with me over the public schools. He says:

"...Is it possible that your judgment in this case, as in your evaluation of our schools, is based upon personal prejudice—that at times you see the world through rose-colored glasses, while at other times you see only with a 'jaundiced' eye?"

It is too serious a matter to view our schools either with "jaundiced eyes," as the superintendent suggests or through rose colored glasses such as Nero used to make him feel good. What is involved are not schools, not superintendents or teachers but children. And by now, all sorts of authorities, as well as laymen, have jumped on the bandwagon to propose improvement in the educational institutions of this country. There is a recent Rockefeller Report on the subject which is worth reading.

Elementary and intermediate schools exist to provide tools to young people to accomplish specific tasks. The schools, apart from aiding in the character building process which is most important in the younger years, must develop facilities, either to proceed for a superior education or to engage in vocations to earn a living. There is the additional factor of decent citizenship.

If the purpose of the school system is to do little more than to care for youngsters between the ages of 6 to 16 or 18, and to provide jobs for a multitude of teachers, janitors and other school officials, then it is not worth the price we have to pay for it. Also, at the present stage of our national development, we cannot afford the cost of ignorance. Therefore, the school system which has gone its merry way since the 1880's with much review but little improvement, requires re-study. We ought to have the best that can be devised for our children.

Obviously when thousands of children enter college who do not know their native tongue, speak it in a gutter-jargon, have read little of its beautiful literature; when their arithmetic would indicate that they have devoted little time to an unpleasant subject and cannot take scientific courses because they have no basic knowledge; and when they know nothing of the history of their own country or its system of government — something is wrong. Our children do not learn foreign languages, not because they are not linguists, but because they start late and suffer a method of teaching which has long been abandoned in other countries and by our military forces in war where there was no time to waste.

If a young boy or girl has to take courses in the freshman year at college which should have been completed in high school, then the high school system is inadequate. Instead of wasting college years with high school work, the colleges should decline to admit such students.

I have come across A students in high schools who pass their college entrance and their aptitude tests very poorly or fail. How is this possible? How can an A student fail a college entrance examination which other children pass? How can such children fail the college entrance examinations more than once when children from other schools do not fail?

The answer must be that the schools from which they come do not train them for college. Such schools make a wonderful show locally — a good basketball team, plenty of peppy majorettes, lots of enthusiasm in school and on the field, a good glee club and orchestra, even an annual show. But what do the kids know? What are they prepared for? Who has the right to waste four years of their lives?

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE CONTEMPORARY American author genuinely appreciated in Italy is John Steinbeck. A baker in Rome actually reproduced a halfdozen covers of Steinbeck novels in pastry form. John Fuller called the window display to the attention of Steinbeck, who dutifully bought "The Wayward Bus," and had it for dessert that evening.

"This is the first time," notes Fuller, "that I ever saw an author eat his own words."

A couple of Texans were driving through California's famed redwood forest. In the very heart of the grove, with giant trees towering on all sides, they stopped for a snack. One Texan eyed the redwoods appraisingly, then drawled to the dinette proprietor: "Say, Bud, how much further we gotta ride to get out of this underbrush?"

"I hate that chap," asserted the cute little secretary as she rubbed cold cream on her lips.

Help for Slow Dressers

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

A five or six-year-old youngster is apt to be a dawdler. And at no time is this more obvious than he dresses himself.

By this age, you see, dressing has become old stuff to him. It is no longer a novelty, and hence he easily becomes bored with the task. He seizes every opportunity to do or think about something else.

Immediate reaction of the parents, naturally, is to order him to hurry up. But nagging won't really accomplish much. In fact, it is often likely to slow him even more. He becomes deaf to the parents' pleadings for speed and totally ignores their requests.

Now I don't suggest that you try to beat some speed into your five or six-year-olds. There are much better ways of getting the results.

For one thing, try to remove all possible distractions. You won't be able to think of them all, of course, but at least put all toys and other enticing objects out of his reach while he is getting dressed.

You might also turn this dressing business into sort of a race. Tell your youngster to see if he can get dressed before the minute hand makes three circles of the clock.

Perhaps you can add other incentives to speed his dressing process.

Tell him that you'd like him to bring the paper in from the front porch or that he can pour the morning fruit juice for the entire family.

These simple chores will make him feel important and provide sound, not arbitrary, reasons for hurrying.

Every child presents an individual case. And one youngster just won't dress as quickly as another. Keep this in mind and don't expect too much from your child.

You can help him a great deal

The World Today

By James Marlow

By WARREN ROGERS JR., Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Just before Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip flew to Canada last Columbus Day, they were vaccinated against Asian flu, then raging in North America.

But President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, flying there today, have no such protection. There is no handy vaccine to dispel what ails Canada in its relations with the United States.

Sigmund Freud might have diagnosed it as an inferiority complex. But say that in Ottawa and you'll get a cross look, if not a right cross to the jaw. Ask almost any American and he's baffled, if he's thought about it at all. Chances are he takes Canada for granted.

Eisenhower and Dulles have thought about it a great deal, especially Dulles. It's mighty disconcerting for a secretary of state, wrestling with problems in not-so-friendly places far away, to have trouble erupt next door across the unpatrolled border in friendly Canada.

Dulles has had his share of this, mostly in the economic field. Canada has complained in recent years that the United States is hurting it by dumping surplus U. S. wheat on the world market, restricting Canadian oil imports, selling Canada more than it buys, and so on.

There is also the problem of security information. The Canadian Mounties have been supplying the FBI with security data on Canadian citizens for years. But Canada threatened to stop that last year after the Senate Internal Security subcommittee published a report naming one of her diplomats.

E. Herbert Norman, then Canada's ambassador to Egypt, committed suicide in Cairo after the committee said he had been active in Communist circles. Canada's indignant fury was enormous.

Eisenhower and Dulles are tackling all these problems with their Canadian counterparts at Ottawa. There is hope for progress, although the security issue is especially knotty since, under the U. S. Constitution, the executive branch can make no promises binding on the Congress.

The United States and Canada have been friendly so long that almost nobody remembers when they were enemies. American revolutionaries invaded Canada in 1775-76, took Montreal and besieged Quebec. Most Canadians are convinced Theodore Roosevelt bullied them into a disadvantageous settlement of the Alaska-Canada boundary in 1903. And some may be wondering today whether efforts might be made to acquire Canada's west coast for a land linkup with the 49th state.

It is not hard to argue for the theory of an inferiority complex. Canada's radio reeks with rock 'n' roll, Canada's television leans to I Love Lucy and similar U. S.-made programs, the books and even the magazines come overwhelmingly from the United States. Canadians talk like U. S. residents—those that don't talk French, that is—even though they swear allegiance to Queen Elizabeth.

Many may be satisfied with the situation but others would prefer that Canadians ache more of a national identity.

King-To-Be's Candy Deal Frustrated

LONDON (AP)—Britain's future King has suffered an inglorious reverse in a big deal to straighten out his shaky finances at the school candy shop.

This financial crisis in the life of 9-year-old Prince Charles took place at Cheam, his boarding school in nearby Berkshire.

His mother, Queen Elizabeth II, allows the heir to the throne 20 shillings—$2.80—spending money each three-month term. Like the other boys, the king-to-be keeps it at what is called the bank in the candy shop.

With three weeks left in the term, Charles discovered he had no money left in the bank. So he staged a sale of some of his belongings.

Aware that there was an excellent opportunity to buy royal souvenirs cheap, other schoolboys flocked to Charles' sale.

Delighted with the result, the bonny Charles visited the candy shop once more dreaming, his friends said, of chocolate fudge and other delicacies.

But he wasn't allowed to make any purchases. Miss Margaret Cowlishall, in charge of the shop, knew that he had exhausted his candy funds. So—no sale.

He had to return the money.

In sending Charles to school with other boys, the Queen and Prince Philip insisted that he be treated the same as any other student.

He was.

Ike To Submit New Passport Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Congress yesterday he will soon submit legislation designed to offset a Supreme Court ruling limiting the secretary of state's authority to withhold passports.

The court ruled on June 16 that the State Department lacks authority to deny passports on the basis of an inquiry into an applicant's beliefs and associations.

Eisenhower, in a special message, urged Congress to act promptly in overcoming this ruling.

Japanese Women Like Sack, Hamburgers, U.S. Furniture

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

While Americans make a vogue of Japanese food, fashions and architecture, the modern Japanese girl prefers hamburgers, and wouldn't know how to get around in a kimono. So says Miss Shizuko Ohashi, editor of Japan's leading women's magazine Kurashi-No-Techo (which means "notebook for living").

"I have not worn a kimono in the last 10 years, except once, for a fancy dress ball," youthful Miss Ohashi said through an interpreter. "Older women still wear the kimono at home and in the evening, but most younger women work, and our rush hour in Tokyo is just as crowded as yours in New York. Can you imagine trying to ride the subway in a kimono?"

Miss Ohashi was dressed in a modish pink linen two-piece dress, cut on the latest chemise lines. She is in this country at the invitation of the U. S. State Department, under the educational exchange program, for a brief tour of American publishing plants and editorial offices.

She says the entire status of women has changed in Japan since they won the vote, shortly after World War II.

Most women in Japan make their own clothes, using western patterns, says Miss Ohashi. Few extreme styles are worn, the main goal of the home seamstresses being to turn out neat, practical garments suitable to their working lives.

Japan's great problem is its rapidly increasing population, she says, and for this reason modern Japanese women do not plan big families.

Miss Ohashi has been most impressed by the furnishings and appliances of American homes.

"There is no real furniture in the average Japanese home," she says. "We sleep on mats which are rolled up and put away in the daytime, so that one room can serve many purposes."

There is one more important change in the status of Japanese women, says this modern young editor:

"Before the war, parents arranged almost all marriages. Now we marry for love."

Auto Dealers See No Pickup In Sales Soon

DETROIT (AP)—New car dealers see little likelihood of any pickup in sales before the new models come out, Automotive News said yesterday. At the same time the clean-up of outgoing models is expected to be thorough and orderly.

Reporting on a cross-country dealer survey, the trade paper said profits are dismal in most instances. "Some dealers," it added, "believe that a restoration of confidence will do more to hypo new car sales than the flashiest of the new models can do."

In no marketing area, the paper said, do dealers anticipate any difficulty in the clean-up. Some expect to be "dry" weeks before the '59s appear. Dealers report that factories have applied virtually no pressure to order more cars as assembly lines near the changeover shutdown.

Lauren Bacall appears cool and sophisticated in movie roles but face-to-face she has a warm, vivacious personality.

Blonde 'Betty' Bacall Prettier Than Pictures

By JEANNE D'ARCY

They sent a girl to do a job any man would love—interview Lauren Bacall, who was in New York recently.

The striking blonde flashed into Manhattan's famed 21 Club, waltzed out of a stole, removed her dark glasses, brought luncheon hubbub to a standstill.

Even sophisticated New Yorkers turned around for a second glance. And Betty—that's what everyone calls her—knew everybody. She threw a greeting to a famous author, extended a hand, which a British actor kissed, had a few words of French for the head waiter.

"Restaurant French," she explained, in a smoky voice that could melt steel.

You expect to meet a cool, sophisticated blonde. But Betty's not cool, she's warm, friendly, animated and far prettier than any of her pictures. She photographs gaunt and glamorous. She's glamorous, all right, but her face is soft and prettily round.

Beauty secrets?

"Don't have any," said Betty. "I'm a soap-and-water girl."

She pulled out an inexpensive plastic compact of pressed powder, fluffed some on her nose, checked her coral lipstick.

"Clothes are important to beauty," she said. "A woman has to know what she can wear. Now me,

I'm not the fluffy type. Keep it simple and sleek!

"The chemise? It's OK, has appeal. Men wonder what's inside. I'm going to have a few—but not a whole wardrobe of 'em. They're divine to wear. You can sit down in comfort without feeling nipped in at the waist or tight across the hips. And no wrinkles!"

She pointed to the midriff of the cotton sheath she was wearing. It fitted her shapely figure like a coat of paint, was sure to show sit-down creases when she stood up.

"But this above-the-knee bit, it's crazy," said Betty, crossing a lovely leg and arching a well shaped brow. "I like legs to show but enough's enough. Who has pretty knees?"

A good question!

Rain Washes Out Ohio AM Opener

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The rain-soaked Tippecanoe Country Club was ruled unfit for play today and the opening round of the Ohio Amateur Golf Tournament was cancelled.

A big field of 184 of the state's finest shotmakers was poised to tee off today in the 64-man match play bracket.

Eighteen holes had been scheduled today and 18 Wednesday to determine the 63 low scorers who will oppose defending champion Bob Ross Jr. of Springfield in man-to-man combat starting Thursday and ending Sunday.

"We'll curtail the 36-hole qualifier to 18 and play that one round Wednesday to determine the 63 eligibles," said Bill Margraff, Ohio Golf Assn. secretary.

No one would predict what would happen if Wednesday's 18-hole round was washed out.

A host of champions, state and national, are among the entrants. Also on hand are a bunch of hopefuls who have little chance of qualifying.

Among the latter is a player who might be termed "the spirit of golf."

He is Eddie Koski (his real name is Koskowsky) of Steubenville. Eddie, 38 years old, has five children and is the first helper on an open hearth furnace in a steel mill. He is one of the 24 public links players in the field.

For years Eddie has played in both the state public links and amateur tournaments without success. In five tries at the amateur title he has never reached the second round of match play.

"In front of that open hearth where I work you can fry eggs on the steel floor," Koski said. "I don't get too much chance to practice golf anymore but I just like these tournaments. I find that I can't play those 36 holes in one day anymore but I can't quit trying. In the mornings I hit the ball like Nelson or Hogan but in the afternoon I just hit it like Koski."

Eddie is one of the most colorful competitors in the current competition over Tippecanoe Country Club's 6,574-yard par 70 course, but his story must be told quickly for he doesn't figure to be here after the qualifying round. He said his steel mill hasn't been working at full blast and he promised to be back on the job for the Thursday midnight shift.

Eddie has had his day in golf, however, having won the National Polish Tournament in 1947 and 1956. He plays at the par 37 Bellevue course at Steubenville, a nine-hole affectionately known as the "Goat Path."

Koski fired a 78 in Monday's practice round and figured he could do it again today and Wednesday to finally break into the match play bracket.

Local Riders Gain Honors

Wildlife Agencies Abound-- In Fact, There Are Too Many

By DION HENDERSON

Associated Press Staff Writer

Too many cooks not only can spoil the broth—which is a pretty sneaky way to start a column on wildlife management—but they can keep most of the customers in a stew at the same time.

Much less poetic are the controversies that arise when the numerous agencies with a provable interest in the outdoors get their fingers into the operation.

But it's been ever thus, since professionals started finding out that there are more complicated relationships in fish and game management than there are on Pitcairn Island.

Latest state to get a once over lightly on the griddle is Texas, whose operations were reviewed—on request—by the National Wildlife Federation. But it could happen to any state, and if the truth were out, it probably has.

NFW's summary, delivered to Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas said that "in general, Texas state agencies seem to exchange little information with each other and have modest knowledge of each other's operations. There is a great and common tendency to keep their operations to themselves."

The study found that the Texas forest service, the board of water engineers, extension service, agriculture experiment station, department of health, agriculture department, game and fish commission and park boards all are involved with sometimes-overlapping problems.

Relationships between agencies was found to be generally moderate to fair by the survey. But it noted that one of the agencies involved figured its own relations with other departments was "poor to moderate."

Let the man who figures his own state has no such problems set up lemonade for the house, and give his other blessings to the poor.

NL Owners Eye Expansion

New York, Canada City Possibilities

By GEORGE BOWEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — The National League is going to devote "serious, good sensible thinking" to the idea of expanding from 8 to 10 baseball teams, promises Lou Perini, owner of the Milwaukee Braves.

You can take that as gospel since he's been one of the most ardent exponents of increasing the membership. And he has shown the National League, at least, that a change is profitable.

Perini moved the Braves from Boston to Milwaukee six years ago. It was the first time a National League team had lifted stakes since 1900. The Braves hiked the league attendance record last year to 2,215,404 and won the World Series. This year, the Dodgers and Giants were transplanted from New York to California and the scanning of new horizons in baseball resembles the race to shoot rockets to the moon.

Perini is all for it.

"The country is ready for expansion. The question is whether baseball is," he said.

He endorsed action of the National League Monday in authorizing President Warren Giles to name a committee of three to study feasibility of the expansion.

The resolution was prompted by the appearance before the league of Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City and the chairman of his committee to replace the void left by the Dodgers and Giants.

They assured the league that if it would provide a franchise, the city would come up with 12 million dollars to build a stadium seating 52,000.

A 10th team would have to be added to avoid complex schedules and leaving one team idle daily if only New York was returned.

Perini said he is heartily in favor of a suggestion that a Canadian location be added, preferably Toronto over Montreal.

Kentucky Greek Signs with Celts

BOSTON (AP) — Lou Tsioropoulos has become the fifth member of the Boston Celtics to return a signed contract for the 1958-59 National Basketball Assn. season.

The signing of the 6-5, 210 pound rebounder from Lynn, Mass., was announced today by President Walter Brown. In his second NBA season, the ex-Kentucky ace was assigned to guard the opposition's best scorer on defense.

Lane Lists Five Boo-Boos That Lost Bragan's Job

CLEVELAND (AP) — Five instances of mismanagement contributed to the recent ouster of Bobby Bragan as field manager of the Cleveland Indians, Frank Lane, the Indians' general manager, is quoted as saying.

Joe McGuff, baseball writer for the Kansas City Star, says Lane told him his doubts about Bragan as a manager dated back to last April 27. The reason, McGuff wrote in a dispatch to his paper, published Monday, was this:

On April 27 the Indians were scheduled to play a doubleheader with Detroit in Cleveland and Herb Score was slated to pitch one of the games. Bragan told Lane that Score would pitch the second game because he thought Score's fast ball would be harder to hit in the late afternoon shadows.

Lane urged Bragan to pitch Score in the first game, because there was a good chance the second would be rained out and many fans had come out expressly to see him pitch. Bragan declined to change. The second game was, indeed, rained out.

"... As the result of not pitching on Sunday," McGuff quotes Lane as saying, "Bragan started Score the following Wednesday night in Washington. It was a bitter night and it was in that game that Score hurt his arm."

"The weather was much warmer in Cleveland on Sunday and if Score had pitched when he was supposed to, he might not have injured himself."

McGuff said the Cleveland general manager cited these four other instances of alleged mismanagement, all the subject of speculation following Bragan's ouster:

1. A clubhouse meeting following the loss of a game in Kansas City in which Bragan accused his team of being complacent. "We're working like hell to sell this club in Cleveland, and how does it sound to have the manager blasting the team for being complacent?" Lane commented. "I suppose we should send out circulars and tell the fans to come out and see our complacent Indians."

2. Bragan's use of Gary Geiger at third base in a game at Kansas City over the objections of Lane. "If you'll remember," Lane said, "Geiger made an error that started a big inning for Kansas City and we lost."

3. "There was a game at Chicago when he (Bragan) decided to bring Geiger to pitch in the fourth inning," Lane said. "Geiger had not pitched in a year and a half and he was hit hard. We rallied late in the game and could have won it if he hadn't given it away by using Geiger."

4. "And remember when Bob Lemon came off the injured list?" (Lane still talking) "He (Bragan) brought him in against the Yankees in a game that we had a chance to win and left him in so long that we wound up completely out of it. He used Lemon three times in one week when it was obvious that his arm wasn't all right. Lemon didn't work like that even when he was 30."

Fullmer Rips Young Middle

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP) — "He's the youngest 27-year-old I ever met."

That was the reaction of young

Jim Hegerle who lost a middleweight boxing match Monday night to former champion Gene Fullmer at this small suburb of Salt Lake City.

Hegerle, only 22, was pounded savagely by the former champion in the 10 rounder. The St. Paul, Minn., boxer who weighed 156 said he could see why Fullmer was the champion at one time.

Two of the judges gave Fullmer every round on their scorecards. The referee, Ken Shulsen, gave Hegerle the first round but gave the former champ the last nine.

The West Jordan Mormon slugger weighed in at 160 for the bout, which was not broadcast or televised.

For Fullmer, it was the 45th win in 49 professional bouts. He lost the middleweight crown to Sugar Ray Robinson in 1957.

Young Texan With Leaders In Publinx

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — If flaxen-haired Randy Petri, a lanky Texan from Austin, stays in the groove he could become the youngest player ever to win the National Public Links Golf crown.

Petri, 17-year-old son of a stereotypic for the Austin American Statesman, is a comer. Although he has been playing golf only four years, he won the Texas state high school title in 1957 and was runner-up this year.

The Stephen F. Austin High School student fired a 39-34-73 to match par over the 6,866 yardage of the gently rolling Silver Lake course Monday to be grouped among the first qualifying round leaders.

The field of 150 pay-as-you-play golfers finish their qualifying test today with the 64 low scorers entering match play Wednesday. The youngest player ever to win the Publinks title was Les Bolstad, now golf coach at the University of Minnesota. He was 18 years and 3 months old when he took it in 1926.

Don Essig III of Indianapolis was five months older when he won last year at Hershey, Pa. The Louisiana State University team member is a serious threat to become the first to retain the championship since 1929.

Essig, Frank Schmidt of Dayton, 24-year-old sales representative, and Walt Durdle of Peoria, 25-year-old park district greenskeeper, wheel into the first round lead with 71s.

Grouped at 72 in the race for medalist honors are Jim O'Hern, Bellarmine College student in Louisville; steel inspector Chet Kasper of Chicago Heights, Ill., and Harry Mussatto, Western Illinois golf coach.

Along with Petri at 73 were Bill Krause of Palo Alto, Calif., and Sam Lima of East Detroit.

Elfrida Loses! Quiz Whiz Ousted by School Executive

NEW YORK (AP)—Elfrida von Nardoff lost $33,000 and one of her two titles Monday night.

The Brooklyn quiz whiz finally was ousted from NBC-TV's Twenty-One after 21 appearances. Robert Leicester, an assistant director of a private high school in New York, beat her 21-10. They were playing for $3,000 a point difference in their scores.

Thus, Leicester's 11-point margin of victory gave him $33,000 and the same amount was subtracted from Miss von Nardoff's previous winnings of $235,500, leaving her with $202,500.

The Brooklyn woman remains the record money winner for a single TV quiz show. Her loss to Leicester drops her total winnings below the $224,000 won by Robert Strom, an 11-year-old Bronx boy, on two different shows.

She missed the first question asked her Monday night. She correctly named Robert Jackson as prosecutor at the Nuernberg World War II war crimes trials and the late Martin Bormann as the Nazi leader tried in absentia at the trials.

But she hesitated between Hermann Goering and Paul Joseph Goebbels as the Nazi leader who cheated justice by committing suicide. Finally, she said Goebbels and was wrong.

Leicester answered two questions correctly to score 21 and Miss von Nardoff answered her second question correctly to score 10 points and limit her losses.

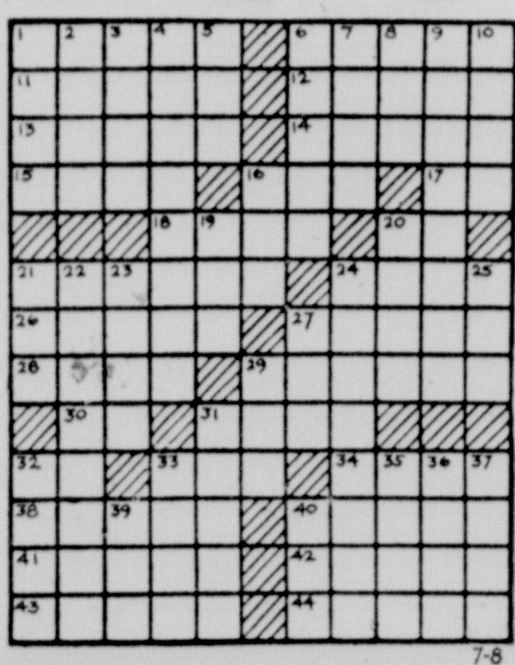

Miss von Nardoff, 32, quit her job as a personnel manager to concentrate on the show. After taxes she will keep about $50,000 of her winnings.

Gal Golfers To Try Again

CLEVELAND (AP)—A field of 103 tries again today to complete the qualifying round of the Ohio Women's Amateur Golf Tournament at Aurora Country Club.

A few had finished the 18-hole round Monday when the qualifier was washed out by a heavy rain and it was decided to start from scratch with the same pairings and starting times.

One of the finishers was Mrs. John B. Whatare Jr. of Canton, who had a 41-3778 and appeared a cinch to take medal honors. She was two strokes ahead of Miss Betty Kerby of Akron, a co-medalist in last year's tournament at Sandusky.

Weather permitting, the championship match will be played Friday as planned with two rounds that day. The title will be decided in an 18-hole match instead of the customary 36 holes.

The 16 low scorers in the qualifier will comprise the championship bracket for match play.

Miss Ann Richardson of Columbus, last year's winner, is not defending her title.

Public Law Gives Increase In Annuities

Congressman James G. Polk, Sixth Ohio District, announced today his efforts to locate eligible widows and widowers of government employees who died before February 29, 1948, and inform them that if they have not remarried they may be able to receive a Civil Service annuity beginning this August.

Polk said: "Since Public Law 85-465, approved June 25, 1958, deals mainly with a general increase in annuities, this particular provision has received little publicity. Persons, many of whom may be elderly and in desperate need of money, probably will not be aware of the new law unless someone calls it to their attention."

Eligibility requirements for the new survivor benefits provide: The husband (or wife) who died before February 29, 1948, (1) must have worked for the United States Government or the District of Columbia Government for at least 10 years, including any military service; and (2) at the time of his death, he must have been employed in a position covered by the Civil Service Retirement Act, or have been retired and receiving civil-service annuity checks.

THE widow or widower (1) must have been married to the deceased at the time of his death and for at least five years before; (2) must not be receiving any other civil-service annuity based on the Government service of the deceased; and (3) must not have remarried.

All of the above requirements must be met. Persons who believe they might be eligible to receive benefits should contact the Retirement Division, U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D.C., and request Standard Form 2800. The form should be filled out and

O'Neill Praises Wills' Paper On Safety

Larry Wills, 126½ S. Court St., a special deputy sheriff of Pickaway County, has been commended by Governor O'Neill for his efforts over the past year in the field of highway safety.

Deputy Wills is publisher of a periodical called, "It Could Happen to You", which deals with tragedy resulting from the negligent operation of a motor vehicle.

The first issue of this publication last fall followed recognition of the idea by Sheriff Radcliff of Pickaway County as being something entirely new in the way of an approach to the highway safety problem. Since that time several other sheriff's departments in the State have also made local distribution of the paper with the result that it was brought to the governor's attention.

In a letter addressed to Deputy Wills, the Governor said of the publication, "I congratulate you upon this pioneer and constructive project. I hope it spreads across the state. Anything I can do to help you let me know."

Another Pickaway County issue of, "It Could Happen to You", will be distributed by the sheriff's department in September.

Transpacific Raft Awaits Second Start

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—The raft Lehi IV is tied up at a boat works today, awaiting another start on its protected voyage to Hawaii.

Skipper Devere Baker has several plans in mind. He may have the raft towed to Santa Catalina Island, 22 miles off the coast, and there arrange for another tow to a point 150 or 200 miles westward where he can pick up currents favorable for drifting Hawaii-ward.

Baker and his four crewmen started Saturday from nearby Redondo Beach, four miles out the towline broke. The raft poked a hole, above the waterline, in the towing cruiser.

The Hawaii cruise is merely a shakedown for the raft, Baker said. At Honolulu, the raft will be shipped by freighter to the Persian Gulf. From there Baker plans to drift across the Indian and Pacific oceans to the Western Hemisphere. Three earlier ventures were failures.

Baker hopes to prove that early inhabitants of the Western Hemisphere drifted on currents across the Pacific from Asia.
